COMPANY BRINGS JOBS, MANUFACTURING TO HOUSTON

HOUSTON – The journey down the NEU Path to Illumination™ begins on Thursday as NEUTEX Lighting™ hosts the official groundbreaking ceremony of its new corporate headquarters and domestic manufacturing facility for LED lighting.

The event will highlight the newly recycled, 40,000 square-foot facility. The Houston facility will manufacture innovative and energy saving LED lighting for both commercial and residential applications which are made in the U.S. The company is expected to create 50 jobs immediately ranging from manufacturing to executive level positions.

“The Greater Houston Partnership applauds NEUTEX™’s commitment to growing jobs and increasing the quality of place for our region by building a new manufacturing facility and choosing Houston as its corporate headquarters,” said GHP President and CEO Jeff Moseley. “NEUTEX™ is symbolic of our region’s innovative and entrepreneurial spirit and pro-business attitude.”

NEUTEX™ Executive Vice President Mark Lewis added, “We invite Houstonians to attend the groundbreaking and visit with our leadership, local economic development professionals and elected officials. We appreciate the help that so many of our vendors, the City of Houston and our current clients have offered to make our entry to manufacturing in the U.S. such a rewarding experience.”

In addition to company officials and local economic development leaders, Houston Mayor Annise Parker also is expected to be a part of the groundbreaking ceremony.
